

This is an official attrition.org “box-of-shit”. Check the web site for examples of past boxes and fun write-ups. This is being auctioned to support several charities! You won’t know what you get until you open it... but you get this teaser. Be fully aware the actual value of the box, and all of its contents, is worth less than $20. The collection of odd things, emotional value, and appreciation of fun is what you are really bidding on. This is the teaser page to give you an idea of what is in the box. Of course, I choose my words very carefully...
